Hogg Robinson Group will unveil initiatives next week to help customers go green, including a CO2 calculator.

The company is also helping carbon-conscious clients monitor progress against targets by enhancing its online reporting tool, HRG Reporting, to encompass reporting by mileage and CO2 emissions.

The environmental services will be among a raft of new technology to be displayed by HRG at next week's Business Travel Show.

Other products include a global travel and security alerts system, and improvements to HRG Online, its self-service reservation tool.

HRG's travel alerts service, powered by security specialists red24, informs clients, travellers and travel managers of the latest travel and security-related incidents worldwide via email and text messages.

Among the improvements to HRG Online is a way of identifying "green" hotels which comply to strict environmental policies.
