

red24 signs contract with XN Financial

ARC Risk Management Group Plc ("ARC" or "the Company"), the AIM-listed global security company, is pleased to announce that its core division, red24 has signed a contract in Canada with XN Financial, a division of XN Holdings, to provide online security assistance for its international assignees.

XN Holdings(TM) is a leading provider of insurance and financial products designed specifically for the needs of international assignees, high net worth individuals and directors and officers of privately owned companies.

Under the terms of the deal red24 will provide XN Financial constantly updated travel and personal security related advisory content, which will be available to XN Financial's clients via their own website.

Commenting, Simon Richards, Chairman of ARC Risk Management Group plc said: "This is an exciting contract for red24 and helps us continue to build our presence in North America. The contract is further evidence of red24's ability to supply corporate clients worldwide with tailor made solutions to provide the very best in security risk management."

XN Holdings(TM) President and CEO, Daniel Anber, stated: "Timely, easy access to detailed global security information is extremely important to our members. Unlike companies providing similar services, red24 offers far more than just a website with fact sheets."
