Clinton Brannigan

Clinton Brannigan is one of red24's international security specialists and is the ActionResponse Manager in the UK.

Clinton joined the Metropolitan Police Service in 1975 and served as a detective on both the robbery and burglary squads in a number of London boroughs. He also has four years of experience working in a Child Protection Team where he dealt with various aspects of child abuse. During his time with this unit, Clinton was commended for his professionalism and detective ability in a complex case of child abuse within an extended family. Additionally, he was a lead detective in a Sexual Offences Unit, and he has investigated a variety of rapes, sexual assaults and stalking cases in several London boroughs.

Prior to joining red24, Clinton worked for the National Crime Squad Covert Operations Department where he served for ten years as an undercover operative combating serious organised crime and terrorism, both nationally and internationally.

Clinton has significant experience in covert surveillance, kidnap and ransom, extortion, and product contamination investigations and is fluent in several European languages. He is also a trained financial investigator and plays a central role in coordinating red24's UK ActionResponse service.
