Red24 plc Announces New Special Risk Contracts

Red24 plc announced that it has signed agreements with two insurance underwriters in the United States to provide special risk consulting services. The Company anticipates that these will add a minimum of $700,000 of additional revenue over the next calendar year. The first agreement is for an initial period of three years and is involved in the Company's traditional field of product contamination. The second is to provide special risk services, and represents a first sales success for the additional staff recruited in the autumn.
